Floor pans, underside of bed, brackets....all of it is covered in rust. The only area that isn't rust, it's actually bright shiny metal, is a 12" wide path that has been sprayed with ATF for who knows how long. Those brackets, that area under the bed, those areas of the frame rails, etc. etc....are all VIRGIN CLEAN STEEL!!! It's hilarious.

Patience is key, as the oil needs time to penetrate and break down the rust. Step 5-Apply Additional Oil If necessary, reapply the penetrating oil if you notice the rust is still resisting. Some stubborn rust may require multiple applications. In between applications, tapping the rusted area gently with a hammer can help the oil penetrate further.
