Who owns Red Box Energy Services - Pugnax & Audax?

Today Philip is CEO of Red Box Energy Services, a Singapore-headquartered company that owns and operates two highly advanced ultra-heavy module carriers - Pugnax and Audax - both of which have been permanently employed since their launch in 2016.

Where is Red Box based?

Red Box also has offices in Rotterdam. The Audax and Pugnax vessels are capable of carrying structures weighing 20,000 tonnes and are reinforced to allow them to traverse ice-covered waters. They played a crucial role in the construction of Russia's Yamal LNG project, which launched in 2017. Both vessels were also designated by Ofac in May.

Should Red Box be sanctioned for supporting Arctic LNG project?

Philip Adkins, the US-born chief executive of Red Box, told the Financial Times in a March interview that the company was providing "a gigantic taxi service" for the Arctic LNG project, and he was defiant about claims that the operation should be sanctioned for supporting the project.

Is Red Box compliant with international sanctions?

"I maintain the company was always compliant with all applicable international sanctions and it is my understanding my former colleagues are actively engaged with Ofac to delist the vessels -- but in the meantime I am unemployed and I am no longer the CEO of Red Box," Adkins said after the Singapore Ministry of Manpower's decision on the visa.
